A BRIEF SERMON ON THE PRODIGAL SON.

even approached by Him. Jesus came to SEEK and to also save. The prodigal's farther saw his returning son while he was yet A GRAT WAY OFF and ran and fell on his neck and kissed him. While the absent boy was lost to the home, the father's longing, anxious spirit went out after him. His father heart was glad to see his boy start for home, add knowing his needs was ever ready to respond to the same.

To the lost soul I wish to impress just here an important fact that possibly is never considered. The boy was pardoned, and received by the father who rejoiced that the lost was found, but that which he had squandered was never restored. Let's see if there are words in the parable to warrant the statement. The elder brother was so displeased that the father said to him "Son, all that I have is thine." Don't forget that when this younger son—the prodigal—requested the portion of goods that fell to him the father divided.

there were just two sons and so it was correct to say son all that I have is thine.

The boy who squanders time does not become an intellectual giant when converted in later years. The same is true in the moral realm, and in the physical. God will pardon your sins and remember them no more, but you will and there will be some defect, condition that will cause you to remember even with grief the sinful life you have lived.

Do not wonder so far away because you will, like the prodigal, have to come right back over the road to reach your Father's house.

But keep in mind the willingness, helpfulness and great ability of your Lord. All things are ready. Come to your Heavenly Father and on your hand may be placed the ring of His endless and unbroken love. Your sin worn feet may be shod with the preparation of the Gospel of peace. Your sinful garments being laid aside, there is beautiful robe in readiness for you. Our righteousness is as filthy rags and Christ will become our righteousness and sanctification.

W. M. ELLIS.

Much of the so-called friends of the day is but pretense. It exists only in name and as soon as it ceases to be advantageous it is dropped. The friendship that continues the same in prosperity and adversity is to be prized, but all other kinds are worthless. It matters not how hard a man may struggle to do right and make a success of life there is always some loathsome reptile, some worthless wretch who is ready to drag him down, to blight his hopes and blast his fondest ambitions. The loss of money and property is not the greatest loss a man can sustain in the business world; far better to lose your money than to lose hope and ambition.

Work is moral and physical uplifter; it is a panacea for sorrow; idleness brings moral decay and furnishes an incentive to crime. The avalanche of crime that is sweeping over our beautiful land is largely due to the fact that too many would rather steal than work. The life of duty, not the life of mere ease or mere pleasure, is the kind of life which makes the great men and women. The first prize that life offers is the chance to work at work worth doing.

We are here to give a newspaper. Our ambition is to let no item escape us. However, we can only be in one place at a time, so if you see an item getting away from us please capture it and deliver it at the office and great shall be your reward.

W. M. Gailbreath Improving.

W. M. Gailbreath, who suffered a stroke of paralysis three weeks ago, is slowly improving.

His entire right side is paralyzed, but the muscular condition have improved so he can turn himself in bed. His general condition is as good as could be expected, and attending physicians are of the opinion he will be able to sit up in a short time.

It Sheds Clean, Pulls Light, and Makes a Better Seed Bed

Farmers in this section who use a John Deere Syracuse Slat Moldboard tell us that they never owned a plow that shed cleaner, pulled lighter, or pulverized better than the "Slat". Where other plows fail, this plow makes good.

JOHN DEERE SYRACUSE SLAT MOLDBOARD PLOW

In sticky lands where at certain seasons no solid moldboard, whether chilled or steel, can be made to shed, the Syracuse "Slat" travels right along. It turns a good furrow, sheds clean, breaks up the soil in the proper manner, and pulls exceptionally light.

The reason for this good work is the slat construction. The open spaces between the slats cause less friction than against a solid moldboard. The earth slips along easier—just as a spading fork works better than a spade with a solid blade.

The Syracuse Slat Moldboard is an unusually strong, long-lived plow. Bottom parts are chilled extra deep where soil friction is greatest. The moldboard has a detachable shingle-piece, making it easy to maintain a keen-cutting edge. All original parts and all extra parts fit perfectly.

You will find this a mighty satisfactory plow to use in any soil where a chilled plow is needed. It sheds anywhere.

Make it a point to come into the store and inspect our slat moldboard plows. You will find them a sure remedy for your plowing troubles.
